Dear NIME community,

McMaster's PhD program in Communication, New Media and Cultural Studies will begin accepting applications on November 15th for September 2021 admission. I'd be happy to talk further to anyone interested in the program, and especially to those interested in doing work in the Networked Imagination Laboratory on live coding / network music / laptop orchestras / data sonification / etc (get in touch with me directly!). There's some more info about the program below, including about an upcoming Q+A event.

Yours truly,
David

Dr. David Ogborn
Associate Professor, Dept. of Communication Studies and Multimedia
Director, Centre for Networked Media and Performance (CNMAP)
Associate Member, School of the Arts
Associate Member, Dept. of Computing and Software
McMaster University, Hamilton, Ontario, Canada

The PhD in Communication, New Media, and Cultural Studies (CNMCS) is a joint program between McMaster's Departments of Communication Studies and Multimedia (CSMM) and the Department of English and Cultural Studies (ECS). The program draws faculty members from CSMM and ECS as well as other departments in the Humanities to act as supervisors of CNMCS doctoral students.

Our many complementary strengths are in areas including new media arts, performance, communications governance, policy, and law, visual culture, digital culture, music/sound, gender and sexuality, critical race studies, Indigenous studies, postcolonial and diasporic studies, transnational culture and international communications, critical environmental studies, political economy, professional communication, and media analysis and strategy. Our program has the faculty and the facilities to support multiple media production practices, as well as more traditional dissertations.

Application deadline: January 15, 2021 (portal opens November 15th)

More information about the program:
http://csmm.humanities.mcmaster.ca/graduate-programs/phd-communication/

For a list of graduate courses (not all of these are offered every year):
https://csmm.humanities.mcmaster.ca/graduate-programs/phd-communication/course-listings/

Admission requirements:
http://csmm.humanities.mcmaster.ca/graduate-programs/phd-communication/admission-to-the-program/

Application procedure:
http://csmm.humanities.mcmaster.ca/graduate-programs/phd-communication/application-procedure/